Spicy Coconut and Lime Grilled Shrimp

- 2 jalapeno peppers, seeded
- 1 lime, zested and juiced
- 2 garlic cloves
- 1/3 cup chopped fresh cilantro
- 1/3 cup shredded coconut
- 1/4 cup olive oil
- 1/4 cup soy sauce
- 1 pound uncooked medium shrimp, peeled and deveined
- skewers

1. Combine the jalapeno, lime zest, lime juice, garlic, cilantro, coconut, olive oil, and soy sauce in a food processor; blend until smooth. Place the shrimp in a large bowl. Pour the sauce over the shrimp and toss to coat. Cover and allow to marinate at least 2 hours.
2. Preheat an outdoor grill for medium-high heat and lightly oil the grate.
3. Thread the shrimp onto skewers, piercing each shrimp near the head and tail.
4. Cook the skewers on the preheated grill, turning frequently until nicely browned on all sides and the meat is no longer pink in the center, 2 to 3 minutes per side.

A Message From Jay

Welcome to July! The summer weather is family here! I'd Like to share a few highlights of my annual family vacation with you this month.

Sara, my 3 kids and I took a 10 day trip to the Netherlands and to Prague towards the end of May and into early June. It's always been on my bucket list to get to the Netherlands, where my grandparents on my Dad's side of the family were born. We didn't get to take our annual family vacation last summer because of my health issues, so we decided to splurge this year.

The first couple of days of our trip were spent in the capital city of Amsterdam. A very busy, bustling city where a majority of the people get around by bicycle. The population is a little over 800,000 and it's not that far to get from one end of the city to the other, which is why they use bikes as transportation. The city has many beautiful canals and many houseboats occupy the canals as well. We visited the Anne Frank House, the Ajax soccer stadium, the House Boat Museum, the Heineken Experience Brewery tour, and of course the red light district. We also biked in Vondelpark in Amsterdam.

We rented a vehicle and made our way out to the county side for our last couple days in the Netherlands. My favorite part of the trip was exploring the small town of Beusichem which is where my grandparents were born and lived before immigrating to the United States. Some of the other towns we visited were Utrecht, Haarlem, and Giethoorn where we rented our own boat and cruised around the lake and canals. Our last stop in the Netherlands was the town Zaanse Schans where they have all of the beautiful, old fashioned windmills. What a beautiful country the Netherlands is and I am so happy I got to experience it with my family. That's it for now, stay tuned next month for our adventures in Prague.

Be Well,
Jay
