Brewers Preview

The Brewers started the season on the road against the New York Yankees on Thursday, March 27th. The Brewers are hoping to make the playoffs for the third year in a row after being eliminated in the Wild Card round the past 2 years. Pat Murphy returns for his second year as the manager and is coming off a season where he won the NL manager of the year award,

The lineup will look similar to last year besides losing Willy Adames to the Giants in free agency. Christian Yelich, William Contreras, and Jackson Chourio should be among the best hitters on the team. Freddy Peralta will be the ace of the staff with Tobias Myers, Brandon Woodruff, and Nestor Cortes being some of the other starters. Nestor Cortes was acquired as was infielder Caleb Durbin when they traded closer Devin Williams to the Yankees this off-season.

The National League Central should be a tight race with the Cubs, Brewers, and Cardinals being the three favorites to win the division. Enjoy the baseball season and GO Brewers!

Hot Muffuletta Dip

- 1 (8 ounce) package cream cheese, softened
- 1 cup cubed salami
- 1 (6 ounce) jar pitted green olives, drained
- ½ cup roasted red peppers, drained and chopped
- ½ cup drained giardiniera
- 4 ounces provolone cheese, cubed
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1 teaspoon chopped fresh parsley

Directions

1. Preheat the oven to 350 degrees F
2. Mix cream cheese, salami, olives, roasted red peppers, giardiniera, provolone cheese, and garlic together in a bowl; transfer to a 9-inch pie plate.
3. Bake in the preheated oven until bubbling and hot, about 30 minutes. Sprinkle parsley over dip.

A Message From Jay

Welcome to April!

We are starting off the month with some chilly temperatures! Another nasty weather day for the Brewers' Opening Day. I'm grateful that we have the roof! March Madness is my favorite time of the year for the NCAA basketball tournament. 68 teams are seeded and start out in the win or go home format for both men's and women's teams. Fiserv Forum in downtown Milwaukee was one of the sites of the first 2 rounds of the men's tournament. On the 1st Thursday, I spent the afternoon watching the Badgers beat Montana State, and some of the other games with some good friends. On the 1st Friday of the tournament I went to the first 2 games played here in Milwaukee with a friend and my two sons.

That evening I met up with my wife and a bunch of other friends at a sports bar to watch Marquette play New Mexico. Unfortunately, Marquette lost. That Saturday was the start of the second round of the tournament with 8 games being played. The Badgers lost a heartbreaker to Brigham Young. On Sunday, March 23, I was back at Fiserv Forum watching 2 more 2nd round games with my friend and one of my sons and his friend. It was a great 4 days of a lot of basketball! The Final Four starts April 5 with the champion being crowned on Monday, April 7.

Let's hope for some warmer temperatures soon!

Be well,
Jay
