

November 2021 Helping to take the confusion out of retirement!

Bucks Preview

The Milwaukee Bucks started their season October 19th at home against the Brooklyn Nets. They received their Championship rings before the game and hosted a celebration for winning the NBA championship last year. The Bucks ended up winning that game, and have started the season 3-4 through the first few games. They have had some minor injuries to Brook Lopez and Jrue Holiday so far. The team is very similar to last year with almost every one of the core guys back.

Giannis is looking to have another great year coming off last season where he earned Finals MVP and looked like he was the best player in the world. Khris Middleton, Jrue Holiday, Brook Lopez, and newcomer, Grayson Allen, round out the starting lineup. Donte DiVincenzo is still recovering from an injury he suffered in the playoffs, but when back will play a significant amount of minutes. Bobby Portis, Jordan Nwora, George Hill, and Pat Connaughton round out the other players who will get a good amount of minutes. The 2 role players lost in the offseason were PJ Tucker and Bryn Forbes.

It should be another exciting and successful season for the Bucks who will contend in the Eastern Conference for the #1 seed and hope to go back to back and bring another championship home to Milwaukee.

- 1 (11 ounce) can whole kernel corn, drained
- 1 (11 ounce) can cream-style corn
- 1 (8 ounce) container sour cream
- 1 egg
- 1 (8.5 ounce) package dry corn bread mix
- 1 small onion, diced
- 1 cup shredded Cheddar cheese,

Directions

1. Preheat oven to 350 degrees F. Grease a 9x13 inch baking dish.
2. In a large bowl combine whole corn, cream-style corn, sour cream, egg, dry corn bread mix, onion and 3/4 cup of Cheddar cheese. Mix well and pour into prepared dish.
3. Bake in preheated oven for 25 minutes. Remove from oven and sprinkle with remaining cheese. Bake for another 20 minutes.

A Message From Jay

Welcome to November!

Temperatures have cooled down quite a bit after a very mild start to fall. The Brewers had a disappointing finish to their season with an early exit in the playoffs. The Atlanta Braves got hot at the right time and are currently playing in the World Series against the Houston Astros. The Milwaukee Bucks are off to an average start after a short three-month offseason. I had the opportunity to go to the Bucks opening night when they had their championship ring ceremony to celebrate their NBA Championship. It was an exciting evening and they handled the Brooklyn Nets pretty easily.

The Packers are having a great first half of the season after their opening game loss. My family and I went to the Packers vs Steelers game at Lambeau in early October which was special because my daughter, Becky, was home from Washington D.C. She got to see her first home game in several years. My wife Sara and I were just in Scottsdale, Arizona and also attended the Packer vs Cardinals game last Thursday night. What an exciting game that was! A huge victory for the Packers! It seemed like at least 50% of the people at the game were Packer fans.

I hope everyone has a nice Thanksgiving with family and friends.

Be well,
Jay
