College Basketball Preview

The college basketball season starts Monday, November 6th. The Wisconsin Badgers are looking to have a bounce back year after missing the tournament last year. They return all 5 starters and a majority of the bench from last season. The hope is with new transfer A.J Storr, a healthy Tyler Wahl and a bunch of upper classmen that the Badgers will be competing for a Big 10 title and a run in the tournament.

Marquette is set to have a big year after winning the Big East regular season and conference tournament titles. They got upset in the round of 32 in the NCAA tournament. Shaka Smart returns all but 1 of his impact players from last season. Tyler Kolek is a preseason All American after winning Big East player of the year. There is a lot of hype around this team as they try to win consecutive Big East titles. They will start the season as the 5th ranked team in country, but the goal is for them to make a deep run in tournament, something they haven't done in quiet awhile.

Bart Lundy is back for his second year as the coach of UWM. Last season they finished second in the Horizon league and look to be a contender again this season.

Kansas, Purdue, Duke and Michigan State are the top teams to start the year and the favorites to win it all.

A Message From Jay

Welcome to November!

Well, our warm weather left us last week and brought on some much cooler temperatures. I want to thank my nephew's wife for the idea of this month's "Message from Jay".

My daughter, Becky, who lives in Virginia, got engaged in September, and our family is so excited! My wife, Sara and I went out to visit Becky and her fiancé Cole in later October. We met Cole's parents for the first time and went to dinner on Friday night. It was great getting to know them and learning more about his family. Saturday morning Sara and I and Becky and Cole got in a couple hours of pickle ball. That Saturday afternoon, Cole told Becky that we were going to meet his parents again. This time at a brewery. We were in on the secret, but Becky didn't know that Cole had planned a surprise post engagement party. Cole's brother flew in from Boston and about 20 of Becky and Cole's friends were there to help celebrate. She was so surprised! We had a great afternoon on a mild fall day. We went back to Cole's parents' home for a bite to eat that night as well. On Sunday morning, we took a walk-through Roosevelt Island Park with great weather again. In the afternoon, the girls went wedding dress shopping, and the guys went to watch football and have some ovsters. It was an awesome long weekend in Virginia. We can't wait for the wedding next June!

Enjoy Thanksgiving with your family and friends.

Be well, Jay

Directions

- 1. Place sweet potatoes into a large pot and cover with salted water; bring to a boil. Reduce heat to medium-low and simmer until tender, 20 to 30 minutes. Drain and peel.
- 2. Preheat the oven to 325 degrees F. Mash sweet potatoes, 1/3 cup butter, and white sugar together in a bowl. Beat milk, eggs, and vanilla into sweet potato mixture using an electric mixer until smooth; pour 1/2 of the mixture into a 9x13-inch casserole dish.
- 3. Make the topping: Mix brown sugar, coconut, pecans, and flour together in a bowl; stir in 3 tablespoons melted butter until evenly coated. Sprinkle 1/2 of the topping over sweet potato mixture in the baking dish. Pour remaining sweet potato mixture over topping and sprinkle with remaining topping.
- 4. Bake in the preheated oven until cooked through and topping is lightly browned, about 1 hour.
